How have you considered the 5 Ways of working while developing your actions?

Long term – Looking to the long term so that we do not compromise the ability of future generations to meet their own needs	Implementing technical infrastructure in order to provide a fit for purpose capability for our future generations
Collaboration – Working with others in a collaborative way to find shared sustainable solutions	Integrated data to provide information on the most effective collaborative approach to meet the needs of our residents, especially those most vulnerable
Involvement – Involving the diversity of the population in the decisions that affect them	Community collaboration is at the heart of the development of digital connectivity for our residents and businesses
Prevention – Understanding the root causes of issues to prevent them from occurring	It is well known that population demographic changes across Europe are going to put pressure on future populations to meet care demand for elderly populations (World Health organisation, 2009). Digital tools are being marketed by UK Government as a viable solution to meet demand by connecting communities to support one another using preventative technology to avoid or meet individual care needs
Integration – Taking an integrated approach so that public bodies look at all the well-being goals in deciding their well-being objectives	As part of this step an integrated working group looking at the technical barriers to success has been created that provides a public, private and third sector integrated team
